Participants Feedback:

1. After implementing this subject and some activities in my life and in relations I came across some very important changes in my life. I started observing and analyzing my thought process and I was able to concentrate more. I used to take 40-45 minutes to learn and understand any topic, now it got reduced to 25-30 minutes. Now physical facilities are on third priority, firstly right understanding and secondly good relations with others.

2. Before doing the Human Values workshop, the most painful relationships for me were! Because I was part of a big family and was always conscious of relationships. I always tried to keep my family, friends and relatives happy. But when this did not happen, I became sadder and then isolated myself from everyone. And my mind kept suffocating! And he thought that now he should not have any expectations from anyone. The first thing discussed in this workshop was decision! We take decisions in 3 ways -

1. By nature
- 2-by pressure
- 3- By impact

And when I examined myself, I found that I used to take decisions either due to influence or pressure, but the desire to live was by nature. Because of which I was not happy with myself!

And when I examine my nature, I realize that my nature is to live happily. Then in the workshop it was pointed out that what is happiness? Found out what is the difference between getting excited and then becoming sad or continuous happiness. Then the question arose in the mind that how to achieve continuous happiness.

3. The problem was that I was dependent on family, society and friends. Here people were living according to the old system which was painful for me. But on the fourth day of the workshop, there was a discussion on family system, that after Harmony in Self, efforts have to be made to establish Harmony in family. And when there was talk on family system, there was discussion on 9 feelings, in which it was understood that we have trust on our loved ones but in trust we also have a thought on the intentions. And only then I understood the difference between intention and competence. .
